DETAILED ACTIONClaim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

1. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

2. Claims 1-6 rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Staber et al. (6026160).

As per claim 1, Staber discloses a wire interface for a DSL (Abstract) with housing 20 (Fig. 1), holding protection component (comprised of protectors 34), and comprising multiple pairs of DSL pairs 36 (an input and output pair). The protectors are able to detachably make contact with multiple pairs 36.

As per claim 2, each pair includes a tip and ring with a tip mounted to one input pin and the ring mounted to the other input pin 40 (Col 4 lines 15-42). There is a set of pins for each tip/ring pair.

As per claim 3, the protectors include ground pins 42.

As per claim 4, each wire interface includes conductive posts and nuts 40,42 (Fig. 1).

As per claim 5, the wire interface is modular (Fig. 1) with pairs connected to modular plugs (Fig. 2) that are mateable with the outlet (in housing 20 of Fig. 1).

As per claim 6, the modular outlet and plug 84 are the RJ-45 type (Fig. 2).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

3. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

4. Claims 7-9 rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Staber (6026160) as applied to claim 1, and further in view of Walken et al (6178080).

As per claims 7-9, Staber discloses claim 1 as per the above rejection, Staber further discloses that his NID comprises well known protection for the tip/ring pairs. However, Staber does not specify that the protection is a gas tube, or a solid state varistor.

Walken teaches that varistors (solid state) and gas tubes are used to effectively protect subscriber pairs. It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time of this application to implement either solid state varisors or gas tubes as the protection elements for the purpose of protecting the pairs.
